

Treasury Department,

BUREAU OF THE MINT,

Washington, D. C., Decm. 26th, 1882.

My dear Mr. Snowden:

Your letter of the 21st instant, enclosing copy of a letter from the Assistant Treasurer in regard to the re-coinage account, which requested you to drop therefrom the debit of $508.⁸², is received.

+
$ 508.84

I learn that Mr. Preston's directions that you should credit the recoinage account with that amount were made after consultation with Mr. Harrington of the Treasurer's and Mr. Daskam of the Secretary's Office. I think he was right; but as your recoinage account with the Treasurer does not ~~appear to~~ enter into your quarterly Mint accounts, to be forwarded to me and settled by the Auditor and Comptroller, I am willing that you should keep it in any way that is mutually satisfactory to him and you.

Very respectfully,

Horatio B. Birchard

A. Loudon Snowden, Esq.,

1183

(D. M.)

Wash. H. O.

Dec 26/82

H. C. Ingham

Residence of to be kept in any way
 that will be satis-
 -factory to the Treas.
 U. S. & the Supt of the Mint.

[Abstract:] Recoinage a/c to be kept in any way that will be satisfactory... 1183

Treasury Department,
Bureau of the Mint,
Washington, D.C.,
December 26, 1882

My dear Mr. Snowden:

Your letter of the 21st instant, enclosing copy of letter from the Assistant Treasurer in regard to the recoinage account, which requested you to drop therefrom the debit of $508.82 (X $508.84), is received.

I learn that Mr. Preston's directions that you should credit the recoinage account with that amount were made after consultation with Mr. Harrington of the Treasurer's and Mr. Daskam of the Secretary's Office. I think he was right; but of your recoinage account with the Treasurer does not enter into your quarterly Mint accounts, to be forwarded to me and settled by the Auditor and Comptroller, I am willing that you should keep it in any way that is mutually satisfactory to him and you.

Very respectfully,
Horatio C. Burchard

A. Loudon Snowden, Esq.